Sunday Family Connections

Today's Gospel describes a time of anxiety in the life of Jesus' family. We can imagine their panic and worry as they discovered that Jesus was not with the caravan returning to Nazareth. The Holy Family journeyed with family members and friends because traveling alone was dangerous. When they found Jesus at the Temple, Jesus spoke like a typical adolescent, unsympathetic to his parents' concern. Yet his words teach an important lesson about reducing anxiety in our family life. In essence, Jesus says, "If you had remembered who I am, you would have known where to find me." In their panic, Mary and Joseph had forgotten what had been told to them before Jesus' birth, that their son was the Son of God. Knowing a person well helps reduce our anxieties for them because we can better predict how they will behave, and we know their capacity to handle the challenges life might present to them.

As you gather as a family, have fun playing the game "How well do you know me?" Take turns trying to stump one another by asking family members questions about yourself, such as "What is my favorite memory of a family vacation?" "Given a choice, what dinner menu would I pick?" "If I could travel anywhere in the world, where would I go?" One member of the family might prepare and read the questions aloud as each person writes down the answers. Family members then take turns guessing the answers, playing this game as a quiz show. Observe that one thing about families is that we learn to know each other well.

Spirituality of the Readings -
The Holy Family of Jesus, Mary and Joseph
December 29, 2024
John Foley, SJ

There He Sat

Joseph, Mary, and Jesus did fine with the big holy days. Even with the reading of the Haggadah, especially with the Seder and its special foods, songs, and customs.

On this occasion, the family had gone up to Jerusalem for the feast of Passover.* Jesus was twelve years old.

As expected, the child, obedient, stayed with his parents. The savory and pungent odors sought him out, even though mixed with human and animal fragrances, and with the dust of Jerusalem, ancient even then.

Then, imagine reassembling the caravan and putting everything in order to go home. The procession was like a huge family, so you knew your child would be with friends or relatives when he was not by your side.

Road dust, camel sniffles, and so on, now dominated. It was a happy time, recalling the festivities, remembering the earliest acts of God on behalf of his people.

Families came together for sleep as the sun began to sink. "Joseph, I think we should look for our son. He is probably talking with his friends as usual."

Little did she know.

No relative had seen him anywhere. Last sighted the day before.

In Jerusalem.

Mary's heart must have broken. What mother on earth cannot imagine it. Missing child. My child. 12 years old. Gone. They went back and scoured the cramped city.

Day One, looking everywhere, no sign of him. They sleep an hour or so. Day Two, searching everywhere, asking everyone, following every trail. He was not there. Images of kidnapping, slavery, terrible accidents, and so much more hovered just beneath their consciousness. Somehow they trusted, but ...

Day Three. To the temple. This time finally daring in their panic to enter directly into the utterly private rooms where teachers and Rabbis debated major and minor points of scripture. No regular people allowed there, especially poor travelers.

And there he sat.

Perfectly at home for these three eternal days, the twelve year old, questioning teachers and answering them.

Imagine his parents. "Son, how could you? How could you?"

His answer was odd and we are told that Mary pondered it in her heart for years to come. "Why were you looking for me? Did you not know that I must be in my Father's house?" Was this reply preposterous? Obviously he needed a good spanking if he believed that desertion of his parents was perfectly fine.

Yet think about it.

He had not come to earth in order to be Mary and Joseph's child. Just the opposite. Mary and Joseph came into earthly existence to prepare this boy for his role as the adult son of the Father of all things.

Every family's duty is to send their young children out from home when they are approaching adulthood. In this case, even at twelve years old, Jesus was showing how God interacts with the world.

A learning experience for the family, painful, good, and pointing toward the future Easter.
